Canada Area Newsletter Winter 2020

Area President Linda Hoy

7 January 2020

Dear ACWW Canada Area Members and Societies,

May I take this opportunity to wish you all a Happy, Healthy and Prosperous New Year.

I don't know where the last three months have gone. I started to write the Fall edition of the newsletter after returning from the ACWW Board Meeting held in London from October 15-18, 2019. My work schedule at the University and caring for my mother took more of my time than expected.

Sending Marie & Cecil Kenny and their families our deepest sympathy on the recent passing of Marie's brother.

Membership

One of my Triennium Goals is to raise the awareness of ACWW at the National Level. In order to do that I am asking your Society members to join ACWW as an Individual (Category 5) member at £27 per year or £68 for 3 years, or if you are a group or association you can join as a Society Member (Category 1, 2, 3 or 4 depending on size and activities).

"When you join ACWW, you join a network that allows rural women to connect their voices. We work to ensure the issues they face, and the solutions they raise, are heard and acknowledged by national and international policy-makers and legislators. ACWW exists for women who want to actively engage with international policy and support and promote the empowerment of rural women."

The easiest way to join or renew your membership is to do so online, using this link: www.acww.org.uk

Society Visits

The Newfoundland & Labrador Women's Institutes grew out of a Service League that was formed following the great tidal wave that swept the South Coast in 1929. The original objective was to help victims of that disaster. The Jubilee Guilds of Newfoundland was formally organized from that Service League. The objective of the Jubilee Guilds was to help improve the quality of life in rural areas through education, crafts and service. Jubilee Guilds joined the Associated Country Women of the World in 1945 and the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada in 1951.

The name changed to Women's Institutes in 1968 and the emphasis changed to include more educational programs targeting both rural and urban women.

ACWW and the UN Decade of Family Farming

The United Nations launched the Decade of Family Farming in 2019, intending to include all family-based food production methods and food systems at the centre of global attention. Family farming is the predominant form of food and agricultural production (in this case agriculture refers to crop, livestock, fisheries and forestry) in both developed and developing countries, producing more than 80% of the world's food in value terms (FAO 2014). ACWW is supporting this Decade, and would love to hear from those of you who are farmers or work in agriculture. Please contact Sydney Salter at Central Office if you would like to share your experience, story, or photographs - media@acww.org.uk
